SPECIAL NONWOVENS FOR VARIOUS MEDICAL APPLICATIONS

Each day, around the world, our medical applications help cure patients' wounds, facilitate the healing process of injuries and protect people against infections. Our spunlaced and needlepunched nonwovens are used in operating theatres, hospitals and nursing homes to ease recovery and help save from harm.

The safety of our products is our highest concern. In daily quality tests, we examine our process water with regard to bacteria. Each nonwoven production is examined for microbes in an external laboratory according to AQC-MH-008. Be it in wound care, medical hygiene or incontinence treatment, it is our aim to transform your need into the right product concept and offer a durable solution that supports a safer life.
